to a series of one-hour webinars this fall

Get ready to expand your understanding of advising, assessing and recognition of skills, knowledge and competencies, by attending 3 one-hour webinars, at a cost as low as $150 + tx.

September 20 at 12 noon EST

The first webinar entitled Assessing Skills in Canada-why is it important? introduces you to what the field of recognition of prior learning (RPL) is all about, for professionals working in employment and academic counselling, immigrant integration, labour, career development, certification, regulation, business or sector councils.

Facilitator: Jennifer Archer, Director of Academic Development
Academic Planning and Services, Nova Scotia Community College, Halifax, NS

October 18 at 12 noon EST

The second webinar entitled Advising Clients in a quality RPL system focuses on the art and science of advising adults who want to have their knowledge, skills and abilities recognized.

Facilitator: Mark Gallupe, Professor and RPL Advisor, Loyalist College, Belleville, Ontario

November 8 at 12 noon EST

The third webinar entitled Assessing Clients in a quality RPL system explores assessment strategies pertaining to the evaluation of non-classroom learning which has been acquired through work and life experiences.

Facilitator: Clarence DeSchiffart, Adjunct Faculty, School of Education (Counselling), Acadia University & Consultant - Career Development & Counselling, Wolfville, NS

Use the introductory webinar series to prepare for CAPLA's fall conference or to simply find out more about RPL/PLAR if you are new to the field of practice. The cost of the webinar series is $150 plus tax for CAPLA members or $225 plus tax for non-members. Partial payment is not an option. You can register by clicking here.
